

Beyond Farmers Markets: A Look at Food Hubs – May 10th

Come to our spring meeting to learn about changing local food delivery systems. We'll explore food hubs and regional trends, and discuss how we get nutritious food to all.

WHEN: Thursday, May 10, 7 – 8:30 pm

Networking and display tables at 6:30 pm

WHERE: Arlington Central Library – Auditorium

1015 N. Quincy St. (free parking, near Virginia Square & Ballston Metro Stations)

Panel Moderator – Ellie Bomstein, Program Associate, Wallace Center at Winrock International

- Dalila Boclin, Food Access Director, Community Foodworks
- Katie Farnoly, Eastern Veg Buyer and Local Farm Coordinator, Coastal Sunbelt Produce

- Chris & Sarah Guerre, Owners, Maple Avenue Market

A regional food hub is a business or organization that actively manages the aggregation, distribution, and marketing of source-identified food products primarily from local and regional producers to strengthen their ability to satisfy wholesale, retail, and institutional demand.
